The Oxford City Branch Monthly Newsletter

Sunday September 10th 2017

Please keep your articles coming in for 'Branching Out'. This edition is out a little earlier and a little smaller, because I'm going to be away in Australia until 14th October. The next edition will come out soon afterwards – just as long as people keep sending me material! Let us know about anything that's happening in your tower that may be of interest to others.

Email me with your news and photos to: paulclucas@hotmail.co.uk. The next edition will be out around the 22nd October. (Deadline for copy, 20th October)

Richard Bennett is planning an All Day 'Mystery Outing' on Saturday 30th September. There will be 4 towers in total, 3 six bells and 1 eight, with lunch in between, at a suitable venue for the theme of the trip. A menu will be sent out in advance for food orders in due course.

If there is sufficient interest, a minibus could be arranged costing around £15 per person.

Our Regular August Bank Holiday Visit to Chilton (6)

On what was unbelievably reported to be the UK's hottest Bank Holiday Monday – apparently since records began, we concluded our visits for this year to Chilton for yet another year, and as usual the warm welcome from our hosts, Kate and David, got the morning off to a convivial start.

Fourteen years after our first outing to Chilton the pleasure of ringing the bells has not diminished. Thanks to all those who came along which made it possible to fit in five Minor and four Doubles methods, plus have the group photo taken, during the hour and a half.

A Trip to deepest Wiltshire!

On Monday 21st August, I had the privilege of visiting three Wiltshire towers with 15 other bell-ringers and friends. David Parks, from Swindon, kindly organised the outing; and I am personally grateful to Colin Taylor for generously giving me a lift. First we rang at Milton Lilbourne (6) (10cwt), where I gained some experience in Plain Hunting on a bell with a very long draft!

Chris and Anne Wardell were the perfect hosts, and made us all feel welcome. Next we moved on to Collingbourne Kingston (6) (19cwt), where I was impressed by the beauty of St Mary's Church. We didn't let a little drizzle stop us from taking some lovely group photos in the churchyard!

Collingbourne Ducis

After a break for a nice lunch at the aptly named 'Tipple Inn', we concluded the outing at Collingbourne Ducis (6) (11cwt). Thank you to everyone who came for making it such a great day! Paulina Fishman

A Visit to some Old North Berks towers – Monday 4th September

A relatively short distance to travel to the first tower at the distinctively manorial village of East Hendred (6) (22cwt) resulted in everyone being in place for a prompt start, and the tower captain was also on hand, but no key to get into the church, cue delayed start. The girth of the tower lends one to expect more than six bells, but this is compensated for by some considerable weight across the eclectic set all the way to the 22cwt tenor.

At Blewbury (8) (19cwt), we were back in business in regard of everyone feeling at home with the fluent bells. It was a pleasure to meet up again with Gillian and Richard Lloyd, who run the ringing at Blewbury, almost a year after mooting the possibility of visiting during the memorable ringing weekend in Cornwall.

East Hendred

For the three of us who rang at North Moreton (6) (13cwt) just a couple of months ago it was akin to Groundhog Day as we were once again greeted on our arrival by tower correspondent Beryl Jones, with tea, coffee and biscuits ready and waiting.

Prior to 2014, this was a daunting set of five bells, but now it is a ring of six to wax lyrical about.
